

COPING WITH GLOBALISATION FOR SUSTAINABLE PEACE AND DEVELOPMENT: THE ROLE OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

REV. FR. VINCENT EMMANUEL ACHI, Ph.D

Department of Christian Religious Studies
Federal College of Education, Zaria

ABSTRACT

Changes in the world brought about by globalization give joy and pain to humanity. This paper focuses on how to cope with the misery that is the consequence of globalization. The paper pictures peace as a necessary condition for the development of every nation in the world. It considers the fiat in education, entertainment industry, medical science, banking sector, politics, etc, as the benefits of globalization. Natural disasters, poverty, migration, violent confrontations, etc, are some of the negative effects of globalization. The paper discusses the use of military measures, commissions of inquiry, dialogue, etc, as some of the strategies to checkmate the crises of globalization. Also, it sees religious education as another possible solution to the crises of globalization. Finally, use of national theaters for sensitization, inclusion of conference proceedings in national discussions, religious campaign and investing on irrigation and forestry are the recommendations the paper advances as coping strategies of the negative effects of globalisation.

KEYWORDS: Globalization, Peace, Development, Religious education

INTRODUCTION

The world is going through fearful changes. The economic recession that started in America brought most of the economies of the world to their knees. The consistent and unpredictable changes in the weather worldwide signals difficulties in human survival on the planet. The spread of violent conflicts worldwide also creates shivers. The swift changes in moral codes of conduct and cultural traditions of the world are alarming too and Nigeria, from time to time, gets a fair share of these crises. This paper is an attempt to wrestle with the vices associated with 'globalization'. The paper defined globalization, peace and religious education. Peace and national development are also discussed as well as the dual nature of globalization characterized by its blessings and woes. The paper further discussed attempts to cope with the woes of globalization, and advanced recommendations for the way forward.

Globalization

Globalization is a concept that does not have one definite definition. From an elaborate point of view, Sacks (2003:26) defines it as “the interconnectedness of the world through new systems of communication”. “It is 'a state of the world involving networks of interdependence at multicontinental distances, linked through flows of capital and goods, information and ideas, people and force, as well as environmentally and biologically relevant substances” (Keohane, 2011)).

Peace

Peace is a concept that comes into usage only when its absence is felt. The concept is commonly used to refer to the absence of dissension, violence or war. It is a state of mind in concurrence with serenity: a state of harmony, tranquility, concord and a balance of equilibrium of powers (Ikejiani-Clark & Ani, 2009). Peace is a state of agreement or friendliness among people living and working together (Gbenda, 2008). It “simply means protecting the lives and properties of people from various forms of threat, be it internal or external” (Daniel, 2005:163).

Religious Education

Religious education is understood in different ways. Here, it is the teaching of a particular religion and its varied aspects. An education that emphasizes the beliefs of a particular religion. It is the religious instructions for children, youths and adults in or outside the school (Ilori, 2013).

PEACE AND NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Peace is a basic necessity for the development of every nation. Nigeria seems to be back pedaling because of the absence of peace. From 1960 to date, no decade passes without violent confrontations. The Biafra war in the South East, Modakeke conflicts in the South West, Economic crises in the South-South and many ethno-religious skirmishes in the Northern states have caused fearful sights of death, stagnated economic and educational activities, increased number of refugees, discouraged investors and a crack threatening to develop into a split in the nation (Achi, 2015).

This made Maier (2001) to see Nigeria as a fallen house. Though there are optimists like Chukwumerije (2017) who will want people to believe that there was a country as opined by Chinua Achebe and that the national dream can still be realized, and Kukah (2017) who insists on weakness of power as the bane of the nation, the conflicts are assuming a frightening dimension. As security measures are invested to keep the country together, some Nigerians are calling for the division or a re-negotiation of the unity of the nation (Obasanjo, 2018).

DUAL NATURE OF GLOBALISATION

Nigerian conflicts are multifaceted. Moral, economic, cultural, religious, ethnic, settlement, grazing, farming and boundary issues are creating havoc in different parts of the nation. Conflicts constitute the dialectics that lead to growth and development in every nation. However, conflicts when poorly managed, can result to violence and bring a great nation to its knees. It is in the light of this that globalization is pictured with a dual nature of shared blessings and woes.

Blessings of Globalization

Globalization has created break-throughs worthy of celebration in many aspects of human life. In education, there is a sharing of knowledge today than ever before. It is now very easy to get latest educational theories through the internet. Sport teams and legends have fans that cut across all nations of the earth. Musical talents enjoy support, love and respect all over the globe. With the fiat in the Nigerian film industry, actors such as Pete Edochie, Nkem Owoh (Osufia), John Okafor (Mr. Ibu), Sam Loco Efe (late), Liz Benson, Genevieve, etc, are home names in different countries and continents. In the medical science, researches are jointly carried out to tackle killer diseases worldwide (Ehusani, (1991).

The internet has made commercial transactions very simple and easy. Queues in the banks have dropped and products can be ordered from one country to another without embarking on a pains-taking and strenuous journey (Stever & Murayama, 2018). Politically, globalization seems to be moving the world to one government. Through the media, evil and non productive leaders are condemned worldwide. It has created so many plat forms for the interaction of world leaders. Religiously, Pastors, Imams and Gurus showcase their spiritual power through the media (Appleby, 2009).

Today there is a swift and joint response to natural disasters and hazards. Humanitarian services are globally organized to alleviate the suffering of victims of natural disasters (Wiley & Gostin, 2009). The world is moving towards embracing one culture and tradition. A world standard has been put in place for beauty pageants, building of houses, dressing and eating etiquettes. Inter-religious, racial and ethnic marriages have become a common phenomenon (Ehusani, (1991).

Woes of Globalization

The pains accompanying globalization are so clear that they cannot be ignored. Due to industrial pollution, changes in the ozone layer keep causing havoc in the world. The melting of icy mountains has resulted to flood and other related disasters in the world. Draught has caused migration and refugee crises. In the south of Nigeria, people migrate from flood prone areas to safe havens. In the north, the desert encroachment has caused the migration of herdsmen to areas of pasture, thus resulting to violent confrontations (Okonkwo, 2018). There is also the economic crises that visited the U.S and assumed a global dimension causing a sharp fall in the price of oil, Nigeria's main source of revenue. Apart from the increase in joblessness, the country has become unattractive to home and foreign investors. The struggle for survival has pushed a lot of people into criminal activities. The nation is battling with looting of public treasury, human trafficking, armed robbery, kidnapping, prostitution and the menace of armed militias (Shah, 2013).

Globalization increased human solidarity along ethno-religious cleavages. Violent religious or ethnic crises in one part of the globe find expression in others. Nigeria grappled with the conflict of the Organization of Islamic Countries (OIC), Sharia implementation drive, Miss World Beauty Pageant, Denmark cartoons that ridiculed the Holy Prophet of Islam, the lecture of Pope Benedict VI, etc. Also the Kafanchan Riot of 1987, the Zangon Kataf crises of 1992, the Reinhard Bonke crusade riot in Kano, the Maitatsine disturbances, Tiv/Jukun clashes, Boko Haram onslaught, Shiite and military clash, herdsmen/farmers violent confrontations, etc, are all offshoots of global human solidarity. Global consciousness left behind a trail of terrorist activities ranging from Al-Qaeda, Alshabab, Hesbola, Isis, Boko Haram, etc (Achi, 2015).

There are new security challenges. Billions of naira have been lost in Nigeria due to cyber crimes. The internet has created a platform for hetero and homo sexual activities. Because of online banking, kidnapping for ransom has out staged armed robbery. The emergence of a new world culture and language is threatening the identity of many ethnic groups. In the Middle Belt states of Nigeria, many languages have become extinct due to the overbearing impact of Hausa and English languages. Globalization has opened new tracks of criminality. Uncontrolled lust for wealth has introduced new forms of slave trade that the world is yet to fully tame. Most biting is the mass exodus of Nigerians to the Libyan slave camps (Deolu, 2017).

Of concern is the tolerance and acceptance of a culture of death among many. The rosy support of Israel's occupation of Palestine, Hamas outrageous suicide missions, Syria blood letting conflicts, North Korea display of nuclear arsenal, Isis arson killings, Donald Trump's riot generating statements, Buhari's blood thirsty python dances and crocodile smiles, the preference of animal colonies to that of humans, etc, send right thinkers crazy (Madueke, 2017).

Globalization brought a revolution in culture. The money economy displaced the status of the elderly in the society. Marriage has migrated from the arena of contract based on love to that of economic power. Un-acceptable moral behaviors are legitimized with new “human baptismal names”. Homosexuality and lesbianism are subtly called 'gay' and described as 'orientations'. Office theft is called fraud, embezzlement or money laundry. In Nigeria, duping is simply called '419', 'due process', the lingual presentation of bribery and 'change', a synonym for all forms of amoral activities (UNODC, 2018).

ATTEMPTS TO COPE WITH THE WOES OF GLOBALIZATION

The problems created by globalization have received different shades of attention in the country. The OIC conflict only ended up at the level of polemics because of military suppression. The Sharia riots and other related violent clashes were subdued with military peace keeping operations. Notable of which is the invocation of dialogue to douse tension between belligerent parties. Sequel to dialogue is media peace jingles (Gotan, 2008).

Government authoritative statements have also played a useful role. The condemnation of the Boko Haram onslaught by the then President Jonathan and the assurance of prompt security measures gave hope and courage to the victims of the crisis. The same pronouncements have been made by President Mohammadu Buhari in respect of the herdsmen/farmers clashes in different localities of the nation (Ewodage, 2018). Also commissions of enquiry were set up by government to investigate one conflict or the other (Antigha, 2005).

Another strategy was the creation of new local governments and chiefdoms. This development brought new identities and crises to light. The Ikulu/Bajju clash of Zango Kataf Local Government Area and the Takad/Herds men clashes are cases in point (Yohanna, n.d).

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION AND GLOBALIZATION

Religion has severally been looked at with negative binoculars because of the ensuing crises that have been its hallmark over time. 14 year old Malala Yousafzai was shot at by the Talibans because she was a teenage education activist. Her abductors felt that God was in support of their cruelty. Burning of heretics, stoning of adulterers and crucifying of Jesus Christ were cruel acts carried out in supposed divine mandates. Anders Behring Breivik slaughtered 77 Norwegian Muslims, believing that he was doing service to a Christian God. “The men who flew planes into buildings on 9/11, the Pakistanis who went on a murderous rampage in Mumbai and the Bali bombers, all killed as many people as they could in the name of their religion” (Caro, 2013:4).

The impact of religion in the society is so overwhelming that there is the need to recast the famous thesis of Bala Usman that instead of 'Political manipulation of Religion', it is better presented as 'Religious manipulation of politics'. This is scored by the strength of religion in determining those in government. Donald Trump's campaigns and their successes were orchestrated by Catholic and Christian anti-gay and pro-life movements in the United States. The change mantra of Buhari made meaning after a prayerful endorsement by renowned Islamic and Christian clergy men. As the Muezzin announced change in the north, its echo in the Adoration Centers of the South East and the shrines of the South West bid president Good-Luck good bye to Aso Rock villa (Abati, 2018).

The main thrust of religious education is to promote religious consciousness, respect for people of other religions, religious tolerance and peaceful coexistence. One of the major hiccups of globalization is hunger side by side excessive food in some countries of the world. With religious teachings, the world can come up with better ways of tackling climatic changes that are causing natural disasters and making some places unsuitable for human survival (Francis, 2015).

People still listen and follow religious instructions more than anything else. When the polio vaccine was condemned by some religious men as an attempt to control child birth, many families in the northern states of Nigeria refused to take their children for immunization. The joint campaign against racism by Muslims and Christians that lauded activists such as Martin Luther King and Malcolm X was born out of religious conviction (Francis, 2015).

CONCLUSION

Globalization has united the world and enhanced the inter-dependency of people. It came with blessings and crisis that caused untold hardship to people. Measures so far taken to track global related conflicts have not yielded the desired result. Religious education is therefore an option that deserves attention.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The following recommendations are hereby made:

- a) The use of theaters should be invoked to sensitize the populace on the ecological changes that are threatening human existence.
- b) Discussions advanced at significant conferences should form part of the bills of the national assembly.
- c) Religious bodies and other non governmental organizations should organize sensitization programs on the protection of the eco-system.

- d) Government should take pro-active measures to check desert encroachment. This will help to provide pasture for grazing and curtail the migration that is generating farmers/herdsmen clashes in the nation.

REFERENCES

- Abati, R. (2018). Fr. Mbaka and the voice of God. <https://www.vanguard.com/2018/01/frmbaka-voice-god-reuben-abati>. Retrieved 9/3/2018.
- Achi, V. E. (2015). Ethno-religious conflicts in the northern states of Nigeria: The role of the media (1987-2012). Unpublished PG dissertation of Ahmadu Bello University, Zaria.
- Antigha, T.O. (2005). The media and conflicts in Nigeria: Crisis and conflict management in Nigeria since 1980. Kaduna: Nigeria Defense Academy.
- Appleby, R.S. (2009). Globalization, religious change and the common good. <http://www.religionconflictpeace.org/article/religion-policy>. Retrieved 2/6/2016.
- Caro, C. (2013). Doesn't religion cause most of the conflicts in the world? The Guardian. <https://www.theguardian.com/commentfree>. Retrieved 2/21/2018.
- Chukwumerije, D. (2017). Six investments that could make Nigeria great again. Vanguard. <http://www.vanguardgr.com/2017/10/six-investments-nigeria>. Retrieved 2/21/2018
- Daniel, A. A. (2005). The Nigerian press and the political economy of urban crisis: Crisis and conflict management in Nigeria since 1980. Kaduna: Nigeria Defense Academy.
- Dare, F. A. (2012). Religious education as an instrument of peace and unity in the Nigerian society in the 21st century. Journal of Teacher Perspective online. Retrieved 2/21/2018.
- Deolu, (2017). Nigerians run Libya slave camps – NigerianReturnees. <https://www.information.com/2017/12/nigerians-run-libya-slave-camps>. Retrieved 2/21/2018.
- Ehusani, G.O. (1991). Afro-African vision "Ozovehe": Toward a more humanized world. New York: University Press of America Inc.
- Ewodage, R. (2018). Buhari accuses politicians of taking advantage of herdsmen - farmers' crisis. <https://www.channelstv.com>. Retrieved 6/25/2018.

- Francis, P. (2015). Laudato SI' encyclical letter of the holy father Francis on care for our common home. Kenya: Paulines Publications.
- Gbenda, J.S. (2008). Peace and essential article of belief in African religion: Religious violence and conflict resolution in Nigeria. Makurdi: Aboki Publishers.
- Gotan, T.C. (2008). Nigeria's religious conflicts: A call for a dialogue of life, religious violence and conflict resolution in Nigeria. Makurdi: Aboki Publishers.
- Ikejiani, C, M. & Ani, C. (2009). The concept of peace: Peace studies & conflict resolution in Nigeria. Ibadan: Spectrum Books Limited.
- Ilori, J. A. (2013). Philosophy of Christian education. Jos: African Christian Text Books.
- Keohane, R.O. (2011). The globalization of informal violence, theories of world politics, and “the liberalism of fear”. <http://essys.ssre.org/sept11/essays/keohane2.htm>. Retrieved 2/21/2018.
- Kukah, M. H. (2017). The weakness of power. <http://www.theplatformnigeria.com/sites/2017/oct/bishop-mathew-kukah>. Retrieved 3/9/2018.
- Madueke, C. (2017). Operation python dance: Lessons for IPOB, FG. The Guardian. <https://guardian.ng/opinion/operation-python-dance-lesson-for-iob-fg>. Retrieved 9/3/2018.
- Maier, K. (2001). This house has fallen. London: Penquin Books.
- Obasanjo, O. (2018). Nigeria must renegotiate its unity. <http://www.hyve.ng/2018/01/20/nigeria-must-renegotiate-unity-obasanjo>. Retrieved 3/9/2018.
- Okonkwo, C. (2018). Climate change: Farmers-herdsmen conflict to worsen by 2032. Sahara Reporters. <http://saharareporters/2018/01/17climate>. Retrieved 9/3/2018.
- Sacks, J. (2003). The dignity of difference: How to avoid the clash of civilizations. London: Continuum.

- Shah, A. (2013). Global financial crisis. <http://www.globalissues.org/articles/768>. Retrieved 9/3/2018.
- Stever, H. G. & Muroyama, J. H. (2018). Globalization of technology: International perspectives. Washington: National Academy of Sciences. <https://www.nap.eduread/1101/chapter/2>. Retrieved 2/21/2016.
- UNODC (2018). West Africa takes lead in fighting 419 scams. <https://www.unodc.org/nigeria/en/1st-west-africa-cybercrime-summit.html>. Retrieved 4/5/2018.
- Wiley, L. F. & Gostin, L.O. (2009). The international response to climate change: An agenda for global health. <https://scholarship.law.georgetown.edu/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?referer=https://www.google.com/&httpsredir=1&article=10317>. Retrieved 6/25/2017.
- Woodluck, R. (2013). Doesn't religion cause most of the conflict in the world? The Guardian. <http://www.theguardian.com/commentfree>. Retrieved 2/12/2018.
- Yohanna, S. (n.d). Ethnic minorities and conflicts in northern Nigeria. Kgoro: Mikrom Prints.